Program April 14th: DAR Genealogy

On Saturday, April 14th a program will be presented by Mimi Stang on DAR Records. Mimi says: "I call my talk 'DAR Sources From Afar' because I try to give people ideas on ways they can access the records from Oregon, even though the library is in Washington D.C." I know from personal experience with the DAR Library in Washington, D.C. that it is a treasure trove on information that is not available elsewhere. My husband and I learned very early in our searching that DAR records can be invaluable. One of his first steps was to write for a copy of his deceased aunt's DAR application and fill in his Sherwin line.

Kith and Kin By Charlene Talbot

Emergence of a Genealogist: Mabelle Martsching "The way I got involved in genealogy," Mabelle said, "was one time when my mother was visiting us, she got a letter from the wife of a distant cousin in California wanting information about the Patrick family. Mother and I talked about it and I got hooked. That was back in the '70s. I was just curious, I guess. "After that, I think the woman in California must have written for more information, and I started keeping copies of what we wrote her. Then I started taking classes from Edna Wiese at the Senior Center. There were eight sessions and some field trips. One was to the genealogy society in Eugene. Another time we went to a lecture on how to compile your genealogy." Mabelle has put together two big books on the Patricks, DeLongs, and Hoyts. She had wonderful family help, she says, and thinks she has taken all of her families 'to the water's edge'. "My maiden name is Morgan. After I worked on the Patrick family for a while, I decided to do the Morgans. I asked members of the family to fill in group sheets, and this led to a trip to Great Britain. My husband and I spent nearly a month there. We rented a car and drove all over Wales. We found records and saw the homes of great grandparents and went through cemeteries. I would say that going to Wales was the most exciting thing I ever did in relation to genealogy. I grew up around Welsh people in Iowa so I had no trouble understanding their accent."

Mabelle began attending the society's meetings when they were held in the basement of the Corvallis library. Becky Kiger was president when Mabelle became involved in answering queries. "Becky asked for volunteers, and of course no one volunteered. She asked Betty Wilson to answer them. That was about 1980. I knew Betty and I helped her. Later Betty quit and I was asked to take over. We were to keep a copy of everything, and I just kept on. Even now, if I see an obit of some early Benton County family in the paper, I cut it out. And everyone has been good to help."

Of her husband's family, she says, "There are only about 50 Martsching families in this country and I have found every one of them. They are mostly still in Iowa or in the cemetery. But I still haven't located John's grandmother Dora Maria Turk Martsching. She's my brick wall."

Little by little Mabelle has taken over the family utility room as her office. It had some shelves, and her husband built more. Her advice to beginners: "If you're interested in your background, do genealogy and enjoy every minute. If you don't compile the records, they'll be lost forever. I have a cousin who says almost every time she writes, 'Thank you, Mabelle. We would never have known.""

GENEALOGY CERTIFICATE COURSES ON THE INTERNET

From: "Pat Coolican" You may wish to check out this new certificate course at www.genealogicalstudies.com.

(Toronto, February 21, 2001) North America's first web-based certificate program in genealogy is growing. In the fall of 1999, the National Institute for Genealogical Studies partnered with the Continuing Education Program of the Faculty of Information Studies, University of Toronto (FIS/CE) to offer North America's first Certificate Program in genealogical studies delivered entirely over the Internet. Today, people across North America have registered for thousands of online certificate-level courses, taking advantage of this convenient and practical way of mastering the techniques of genealogical research. Starting with a core of eight courses in the Basic Level Certificate in Canadian Records in October 1999, the Intermediate Level commenced one year later. The Advanced Level will be added in October 2001. The National Institute and FIS/CE also added certificates in English Records and Irish Records in February 2001. The latest country added to the growing list is the United States.

Beginning in June 2001, students will be able to complete the Basic Level Certificate in American Records.

Kyle J. Betit has joined the team of leaders and faculty as the American Records Department Leader. Betit is a professional genealogist, author, lecturer and consultant specializing in American, Canadian, Irish and French research. He is also involved in the application of genealogy to medical genetics studies. Brian Hutchison, B.Comm, CMA, CG, FSA (Scot) is heading the Irish Records Department Other leaders are Dr. Penelope Christensen for the English Records Department, and Louise St Denis for the Canadian Records Department. Recognizing the diverse ethnic backgrounds of North Americans, the National Institute and FIS/CE anticipate adding specializations in the records of other countries in the coming years.

The Basic Level Certificates are the first stage in a series of courses leading to the Certificate in Genealogical Studies. Individuals aspiring to become professional genealogists will also complete the Intermediate and Advanced Level Certificates plus 16 four-week elective courses from a wide range of elective options. This program is also available offline by correspondence.

When you are doing your Spring cleaning, remember we have a OSU Thrift Shop number. If you don't want to take things yourself, either take them to out library or to Damaris Reynolds. Since we are not scheduling a garage sale this spring, this is a good way to clean out your house and make some money for BCGS as well.
